PURPOSE

This document defines exactly what “complete” means for Stage One, at both the individual FIRST level and the full-stage level, and how completion connects to the program's credentialing system. Use this to make consistent, fair completion calls across every cohort you run, rather than a case-by-case judgment call each time.

Per-FIRST Standard

STANDARD

A FIRST counts as complete when the corresponding Templates worksheet has a genuine, specific answer in every required field — not left blank, and not a single word where the prompt calls for real reflection (e.g., a one-word answer to “what does this value look like in your daily work life?” does not meet the bar).

Stage-Level Completion Checklist

- All 18 Templates worksheets completed with genuine, specific answers (see per-FIRST standard above).
- Attendance or async completion confirmed for all 3 sessions (live attendance, or for async participants, confirmed engagement with the session recording plus worksheet completion within 7 days of release).
- The two multi-day exercises (FIRST 15 Work Style tracking, FIRST 17 Learning Style method test) show entries across the full tracking period, not just a single day.
- One specific, named system or habit commitment recorded at the Stage close (from the Session 3 close-out).

Facilitator Sign-Off

The facilitator reviews each participant's completed Templates workbook against the criteria above and marks the stage complete in the program tracker. Spot-check for genuine specificity rather than technical completion — a worksheet filled with vague, generic answers should not be marked complete; ask the participant to revisit the specific field(s) that need more depth.

Credential Trigger

HOW THE BADGE WORKS

Upon facilitator sign-off, the participant's record is marked “Stage One Complete” in the program tracker, which triggers the Stage One digital badge. Badges accumulate visibly across all stages; the full-program certificate is issued only once all 16 stages are marked complete, not per-stage.
